To properly direct a business, the manager or owner should keep his mind free from details in order that he may introduce new and better methods into the business. As the directing head, it is his duty to guide the business upward, and over the rocks and pitfalls that are so prevalent, particularly at this time. Quite obviously, no business executive can give his entire attention to the mechanics of keeping his own books.

In this area, the bookkeeper to call is the well-known Gragg's Income Tax and Bookkeeping Service.

Nine good reasons why you'll want to Shop at Home

1. Better roads and streets.
2. Better schools and churches.
3. Higher property values.
4. Better jobs.
5. Lower taxes.
6. Better selection of goods.
7. Better police protection.
8. Better fire procection.
9. Better emergency services.

Good things begin to happen to our community when you shop at home. More money spent with local merchants means more tax revenue for our community. More tax revenue means more money for better roads and streets, better schools and better community improvements. More money spent locally means that there's more money and more jobs for more people. And that means more money for better churches. It all adds up to a better overall community which, in turn, means higher property values. When you shop at home, you're doing yourself a favor.

By shopping at home, you help create a greater tax base for our community to draw from. And that means more money for more and better trained and equipped police and firemen. More money for our community means better and more modern emergency services. Part of every dollar you spend at home stays at home and eventually finds its way back to you. When you shop at home, you're doing yourself a favor.

More money spent locally means more and better jobs for everyone. The more our community prospers, the more everyone living and working here prospers. And the more people we have making more money, the greater our tax base becomes, lessening the individual tax load for everyone. There's a big extra plus when you shop at home, too: The more you shop at home, the better our local merchants do. The more business they do, the more goods they begin to order. And the more goods ordered by local merchants, the better selection you have. When you shop at home, you're doing yourself a favor.
